Questioner/Commentator:

You are a commentator for this reading. Your task is to write down a few questions or comments that you had about this selection. What were you wondering about while you were reading? Did you have questions about what was being described or discussed? What did the passage mean? What do you think is the purpose of the prologue? What did or did not make sense? Notice questions that popped into your mind while you read and write them down. After you've completed this by yourself, raise your questions your classmates when your teacher signal to do so (you are not limited to the number of bullet points below).
